CSC Biodiversity and No Deforestation Policy

Nature is the source of our life and provides all the raw materials necessary for our products and services. According to the Taskforce on Nature-related Financial Disclosures (TNFD), more than half of the world's economic output is moderately or highly dependent on nature. CSC recognizes the protections of biodiversity and forest resources as fundamental elements of sustainable development. Through initiating related commitment and implementation strategies, we aim to achieve harmonious coexistence with nature which ensures the long-term sustainability of our business. We also gradually apply this policy to our suppliers and partners.

Commitment:

CSC is committed to complying with regional and national legal requirements and avoiding development activities near globally or nationally important biodiversity areas. By 2050, CSC will strive to achieve the goals of no net deforestation, net positive impact (NPI), and no net loss (NNL) on biodiversity.

Strategies:

- 1. Identify the dependencies and impacts on natural ecosystems within our operations and value chain through biodiversity risk assessment, and develop corresponding conservation and management measures for critical areas.
- 2. Adopt mitigation hierarchy (avoid, limit, restore, and offset) to minimize negative impacts on the natural environment.
- 3. Monitor and protect biodiversity within our main operational areas by regular assessment, and strive to reduce risks associated with biodiversity loss.
- 4. Take transformation actions by promoting green lifestyles and biodiversity conservation among our employees, and actively engage with stakeholders in external activities related to ecological preservation, raising awareness among our employees and the public.
- 5. Prioritize future expansion plans that avoid deforestation. For developed forest areas affected by expansion plans, CSC will maintain its sustainable ecological environment by setting up forest protection plans.
